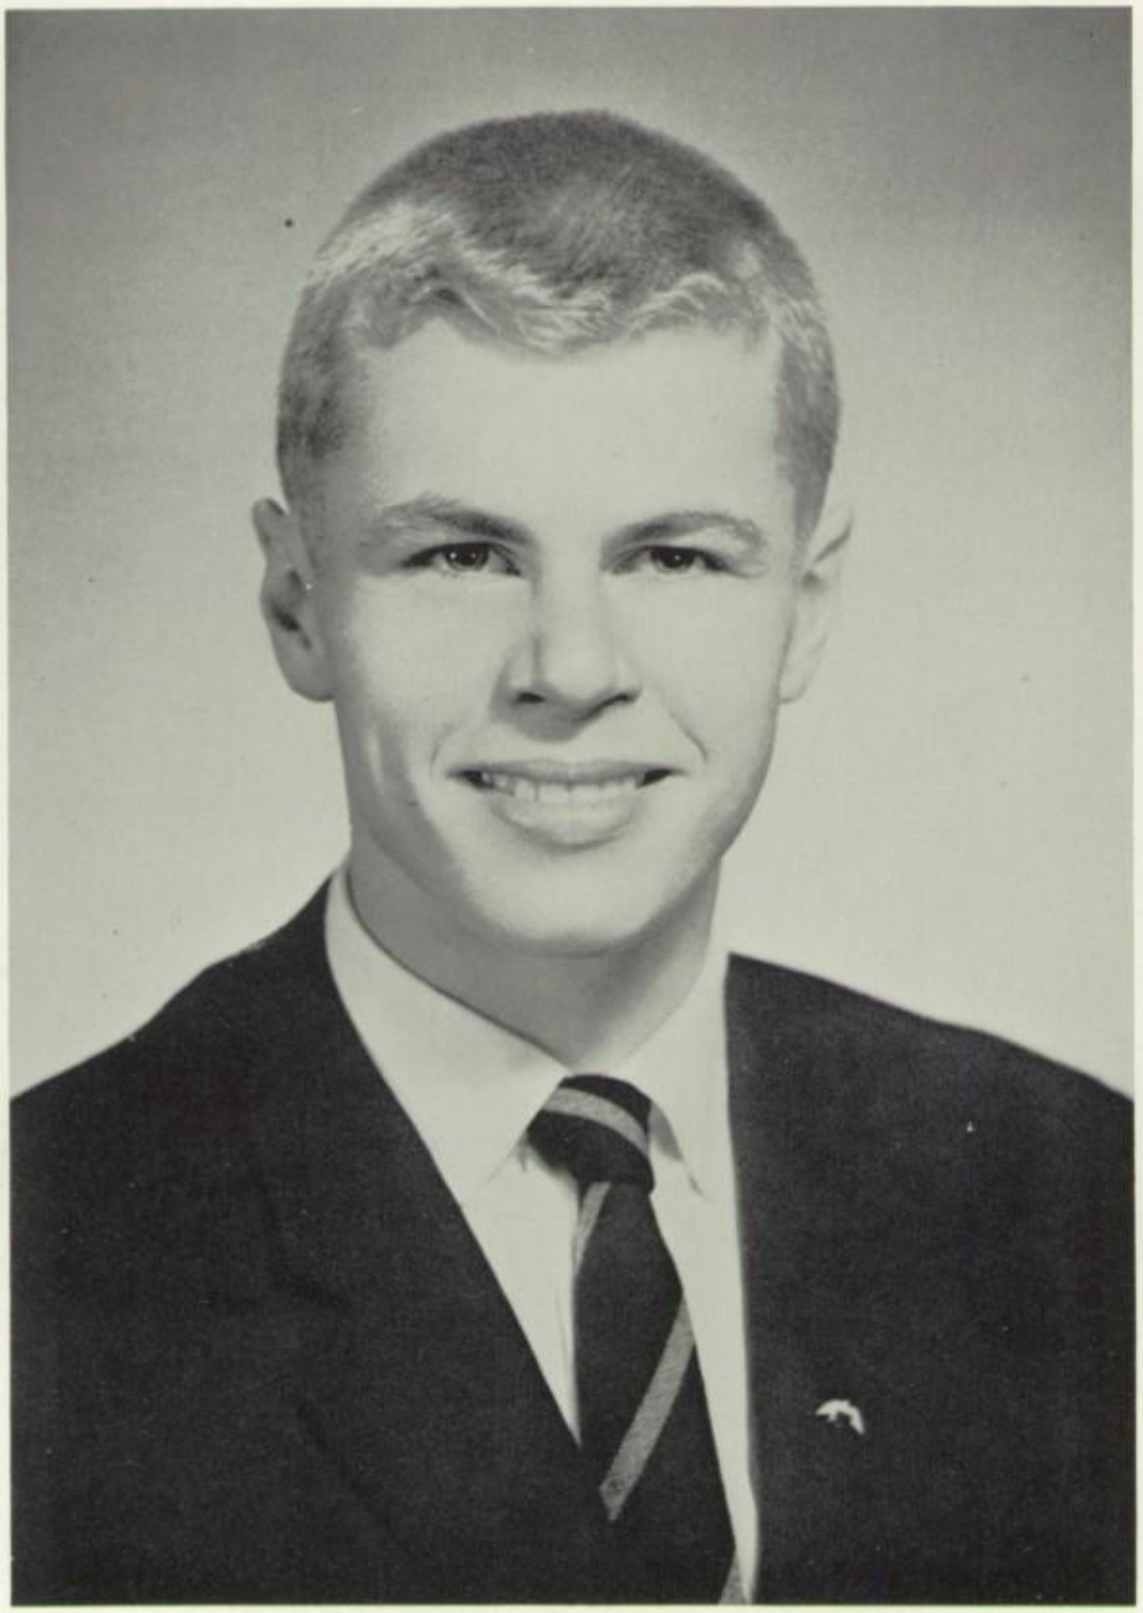
Dedication



Last July in Trondheim, Norway, Johan Lykke was informed that he would be spending a year of his life in Aurora, Ohio. Johan was one of the few chosen by the American Field Service program to come to America. Before being accepted he had to fill out two applications, one in Norwegian and one in English, and he went through two rather strenuous interviews. Each of Johan's classmates applied, hoping his dream of coming to America would come true. Johan's dream did come true.

Two weeks after his acceptance Johan left his mother, father, and three brothers and found himself on a jet plane flying to new experiences and friends. He started his new life in Aurora as "John" attending school as a senior, taking part in Key Club, Student Council, And Varsity A as an honorary member, and entering into the activities of this American village. When John was asked recently what he liked about America he said that he liked the friendly, hospitable American people, the good food (especially pizza), the American system of government and the warm summer weather. John also likes the American girls but he finds them a little too independent.

He took part in several American Sports but still prefers tennis, skiing, and sailboating. He also enjoys reading, listening to jazz music and going to parties. The subjects that interest him are government, math and languages. After graduating from high school in Norway, John wants to be a business executive.

We are dedicating the 1962 Borealis to John, our first AFS student. We hope he will not forget us and will take many happy memories back to Norway.

AFS Programs

The American Field Service Scholarship Program offers talented foreign teen-agers a chance to participate in American school and community affairs. An AFS student brings first-hand knowledge of his homeland to his American host community, and he carries home an understanding of the United States, its people, customs and ideals.

Basic qualifications of foreign students participating in this distinguished program are excellent character, pleasing personality, above-average academic aptitude, proficiency in the use of the English language. John Lykke, Aurora High School's AFS student, 1961-'62, exhibits all these characteristics and many more noble ones.

A second aspect of the AFS Program is the Americans Abroad School Program. This activity provides an opportunity for highly selected U.S. teen-agers to go abroad to further their understanding of a foreign country and to increase in that country an understanding of the United States. General qualifications for program participants are adaptability, human understanding, outgoingness, intellectual ability, maturity, a sense of responsibility. Local schools recommend candidates, but the New York Office of AFS makes final selections. Aurora High School's Americans Abroad candidates are Sara Washburn, James Doubrava, and Jon Rittenhouse. Any one among the three would make a fine Ambassador of Good Will. James Doubrava has been selected by the New York AFS as a semi-finalist.

The AFS Program is administered through local chapters composed of interested community persons. Mrs. Brad Holt is the very capable president of the Aurora Chapter.

"The 1962 Borealis staff would like to thank everyone who has worked to make this yearbook a success. Many long hours have been spent and we have tried to bring the high-lights of the past year to you. We hope this book will be one of your most treasured mementoes.

We would like to thank Mike Barnes, Kathy Helmuth and David Cantrell for their contributions toward the cover and divider page designs."

Faculty

As you have progressed through Aurora School, you have been building the foundation for your future life. Within this foundation are some of the abilities that will give you earning capacity in your later life. Not all earnings are measured by the dollar and cent scale so common to all of us. Many of life's most gratifying rewards are gained from the self-satisfaction of knowing that you have been of service to your nation, state, community, and church; that you have been conscientious in your own endeavors. As you take pride in your achievements today set new goals to reach tomorrow. Whether you continue your formal education or go to work, keep aware of the new things to be learned every day of your life.

Thoughts Of Thankfulness

Faculty Poem

As we're leaving Aurora High,
To the teachers we'll say goodbye.
For all the kindness they have shown,
To us they shall be always known.

From a boys' school he came to us,
And with the girls he makes a fuss;
We all think Mr. Mickel's swell
Because he makes his point so well.

Mr. Lewis has bright red hair,
If you need him he's always there;
The seventh graders think he's great,
And with the seniors too, he'll rate.

In French Miss Molden always talks,
We always see her taking walks;
She'll help you with your Y-Teen chore,
To us she'll never be a bore.

Mr. Colonius is a tease,
Seniors he always tries to please;
He brought our football team along,
Even when things were going wrong.

English in junior high is good,
They learn to write the way they should;
By Mrs. Summers they are taught
To read good books and think a lot.

Mr. Zischkau is new this year,
From the seniors he rates a cheer;
All homework done is his demand,
And he will lend a helping hand.

In the lab Mr. Baker stays,
His methods help us many ways;
At science he's really a whiz,
And very often gives a quiz.

Special training is a new field,
Help for some of us it should yield;
Miss Roland came to us this year,
Problems she solves, it's very clear.

Mrs. Hubbard has lots of books,
We like the new library's looks;
If you need some peace and quiet,
She will gladly help supply it.

Mr. Corbissero leads the band,
And when he does we give a hand;
With an orchestra he can play,
He'll toot his trombone, come what may.

In the shop Mr. Tabor's found,
Does lots of work and jokes around;
He's often at wrestling matches,
And the pins he always catches.

Mrs. Ayers is always smiling,
She helps the girls with their styling;
With knitting as her latest fad,
She doesn't often get real mad.

Miss Rex is a student at heart,
She's always found doing her part;
She's seen at any match or game,
We hope she'll always be the same.

Now wrestling is Petrofes' sport,
It really is his strongest fort;
The wrestlers think he's a swell guy,
Go out and you will find out why.

Mrs. Bowers is well liked by all,
When she's around we have a ball;
In Latin she is quite a pro,
Always knows how translations go.

Mr. Noll, too, is new this year,
Brings to the school lots of good cheer;
In class if you are found talking,
Down the hall you will be walking.

Everyone thinks Miss Wolfe is tops,
And her classes are never flops.
In Phys. Ed. she is a real pal,
Seniors will not forget that gal.

In English Mrs. Baus is tough,
She knows college years will be rough;
Good poetry she loves to read,
But it is not the seniors speed.

With his pipe he is often seen,
Mr. Fesemeyer is the one we mean;
All kinds of books he loves to read,
And a cheer for the team, he'll lead.

Mrs. Nichols excels in Math,
She will start you on the right path;
In her room we all feel at home,
And to it students seem to roam.

Her efforts we appreciate,
All feel that Mrs. Kaiser's great;
You will never see her resting,
All the seniors she is testing.

The seniors get a real firm start,
He does not seem to have a heart;
But we are only kidding, folks,
For Mr. Sims is full of jokes.

She'll stick it out through thick and thin,
A friend to us she's always been;
With Mrs. Shilling's steady hand,
The Borealis has been grand.

Our new principal's Daniel B.,
He is a friend to you and me;
You always know he's close around,
At all the games he can be found.

In his office he is working,
From duty he's never shirking;
Executive head of our school
Is Mr. Stover who's no fool.

Our Principal

High school graduation to many pupils means the end of education. Actually, in this day and age, it is just a beginning. Education is a never-ending process. There are so many valuable things to learn and put to use.

I only hope that we have provided the basic tools necessary for continuing the educational process. Good luck to the senior class. May your futures be happy and successful.

Journey To The Center Of The Earth

Class History

Looking back to all that has occurred to me since that eventful day, I am scarcely able to believe in the reality of my adventures. They were truly so wonderful that even now I am bewildered when I think of them. There were forty-four of us in the expedition: Thomas Aldrich, Carl Bates, James Bissontz, Donna Bittner, Donna Boyd, Jean Dell Brown, Gail Cameron, Richard Cerrito, Michael Colebrook,, Mary Credicott, James Davison, Marshall DiMichele, Jean Emery, Stanley Foltz, Cecelia Gannon, John Griffith, Kathleen Gruss, Gerald Gruss, Ronald Guenther, George Hackett, Marvin Humbertson, Melvin Hunt, Michael Kellogg, Robert Kish, Merle Kohler, Stefan Mehrl, Ronald Mikesell, James Occhinzzi, Ann Oswald, Ernest Quesenberry, Glenda Ramsey, Janice Raus, Carol Robinson, Donovan Rudd, Richard Rudnay, James Schafer, Fred Stoltzfus, Susan Straka, Gerald Sweet, David Thornton, Linda Troyer, Karen Welch, Patricia Wilker and myself, Bruce Mayer. When we took the train to the entrance of the volcano, our guide, Mrs. Biggar, introduced herself. All went well until we were about to reach our destination when the end car of the train uncoupled and ten of our comrades were lost.

Upon entering the volcano we gained a new guide, Mrs. Trimple, and thirteen new adventurers: Edward Brown, Alexis Bush, Maureen Covert, Margaret Curtis, Elizabeth Gilmore, Donald Hoert, Fred Lefebre, Ruth Loeschen, Robert McKinnon, William Ramsey, Robert Roeser, Robert Strickler and Robert Tuttle. By this time we needed a refreshing drink, so we visited a dairy. A few hundred feet farther on there was a fire and ten of our people stayed behind to put it out.

When we reached the third level of soil, we acquired eight new explorers: Genniffer Applebee, Norma Bartram, Darlene Dusan, Roger Komlo, Sally LaVercombe, Judith White, Gerald Willoughby and Janice Younkin. Mrs. Trimple was burned by molten lava while fighting the fire and had to be replaced by a new guide, Mrs. Johnson. By this time everyone was very tired so we stopped for a rest and some games. While here, Ann Oswald read 140 books. John Griffith and I went on an expedition of our own and got stuck in a storm sewer, where we were scared out by a big cat. I also fell on a rock and cut my hand but with the assistance of Nurse Curtis it was soon mended. When we moved on again, we left several members behind to continue playing games.

On the fourth layer of rock Mrs. Johnson left us and she was replaced by two new guides, Mrs. Hutcherson and Miss Miller. They brought with them some new explorers: Lester Fink, Sandra Gandee, Fred Hodel, Eugene Jambor, Nancy Kratochvill, Mary Jane Toomey and Margaret Zingale. To entertain our-selves we had a play in which the girls were flowers. In the last act of the play we were attacked by dinosaurs and two of our flutophone players were devoured.

We then descended to the fifth level where our guides were Miss Gilcrest and Miss Ennis. Continuing our exploration we picked up: Francis Carravine, Madonna Famageltto, Kathryn Resetar, Kathleen Gilliam, Siegfried Klingbergs, Steven Laskodi, Donna Legg, Joseph Rittenhouse and Nancy Witt. As we pushed forward on our journey, we saw some strange creatures giving a concert. Further on another group was giving a play, HMS Pinafore. Eleven of our explorers decided to remain with them as stage hands.

We then entered a limestone cave on the sixth level. We had a Christmas Party for which we made angels and stars and hung them on the stalagmites and stalactites. Patrica Brown, Eleanor Dienes, Catherine McDonald, Genevieve Merkowitz, Lois Pearson, and John Shrake joined us here. Mrs. Knight and Miss Wood became our new guides. We had a picnic in Fred Stoltzfus' cave. We ate roasted dinosaur tongues and played baseball with their eyes. We lost one of our friends in a lava pool, and as we fished her out, seven more fell in and we were unable to recover them.

We came to a sandstone plateau at the seventh level. The boys played a friendly game of basketball. Here we watched a hockey game between the teams called the Dinosaurs and the Apemen. The captains of the two teams, Mr. Hoyt and Mr. Colonius, decided to join our group. Some of their teammates also joined: Leonard Cass, Oris Cross, David Johnson, Lawrence Sargent, Bonnie Shaffer, and Betty Smith, while three of our original members decided to stay behind.

As we proceeded on our journey we came to a marble ballroom on the eighth level. Here we took dancing lessons from a Tyrannosaurus, Mr. Brown. His assistants were Mr. Burns and Mr. Cornelius. Also taking dancing lessons were Michael Bovino, Stephen Brod, Harry Cooper, Donald Hatmaker, Robert Krepkovich, Carol Morse, Allen Purdy, James Ross, Henry Siefert, Sharon Stewart, William Swith, and Harold Taylor. We invited them to join us. One of our adventurers fainted from the intense heat and Mr. Burns demonstrated artificial respiration. When he was revived, we rode our bicycles to a camp and went swimming in a mud hole. Five explorers contracted an infection from the anacardiaceae (poison sumac) and could not continue.

At the ninth level Mr. McCartt, Mr. Crary, and Mr. McClelland assumed the duties of guides. We coasted down towards the next level on toboggans. Following close behind was a large sleigh led by a team of dinosaurs bringing George Applebee, Danial Barta, Sandra Broda, Thelma Bareus, Jacquelyn Beck, William Bissontz, William Cerrito, Kenneth Cerrito, Jean Corley, George Dillard, Thomas Dorsey, Gary Grandee, Lean Holcomb, Karen King, Paul LaFontaine, Richard Liezert, Robert Meholick, Teresa Murray, Margaret Nelis, Josephine Occhinzzi, Joseph Perkins, James Scharb, Roy Sladky, Arthur Supples, and Jo Ann Truce. Some of the explorers visited an observatory to view the higher levels. The remainder of the expedition attended a Latin feast and dressed in Roman attaire.

The ground began to split beneath us and we found ourselves unconscious on the tenth level. As we were regaining consciousness, we each saw visions of Ben Hur in a chariot race. After we awakened, we went for a swin in a cool spring, and being happy that we were all safe, we decided to have a party and celebrate. We found Mrs. Ayers lost here and wanting to show her gratitude, she promised to guide us to the next level. Some of her companions joined the expedition: Michael Barnes, Sandra Gochneaur, Georgene Studzinski, William Wahl, and Frank Wilson.

Anxious to reach the end of our unforgettable journey, we quickened our pace and reached the eleventh level. Two of our guides and nine of our party could not keep up and decided to remain behind. We came upon two more new guides, Mrs. Nichols, with Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Baus, thought our manners were not up to par so they undertook the task of improving our etiquette. They were so impressed with our progress that they allowed us to have a dinner party at the Somerset Cavern. The head waiters and the cook; Warren Jackson, Michael Sharillo and Barbara Wines were so impressed that they accompanied us on our journey. Before leaving the caverns each person took a souvenir of emerald stone which we made into rings. We found some plant fossils which resembled poinsettias and we put them in our duffle bags to sell when we returned to the surface.

On our way down the spiral staircase to the center our three guides became frightened and stayed behind. Half way down the staircase we came upon a mental hospital headed by two competent psychologists, Dr. Shilling and Dr. Sims. They found our behavior so unusual that they agreed to help us finish our expedition and put us to work preparing for the climax of our long task. David Cantrell and John Lykke, their assistants, also joined our party, which now consisted of Genniffer Applebee, Michael Barnes, Michael Bovino, Steven Brod, Leonard Cass, Kenneth Cerrito, William Cerrito, Mary Credicott, Margaret Curtis, Madonna Famegellto, Sandra Gandee, Cecelia Gannon, Sandra Gochneaur, John Griffith, Ronald Guenther, Eugene Jambor, David Johnson, Seigfried Klingbergs, Nancy Kratochvill, Robert Krepkovich, Richard Liezert, Bruce Mayer, Steven Mehrl, Teresa Murray, Margaret Nelis, Lois Pearson, Joseph Perkins, Allen Purdy, Janice Raus, Kathryn Resetar, Joseph Rittenhouse, Richard Rudnay, Bonnie Shaffer, Roy Sladky, Sharon Stewart, Georgene Studzinski, David Thornton, Mary Jane Toomey, Jo Ann Truce, William Wahl, Karne Welch, Judith White, Patricia Wilker, Margaret Zingale. And now, having reached this climax at the center of the earth, we realize our explorations have only just begun.

Swing Along With Success

Class Poem

On June second, in sixty-two
Our class will graduate;
We all have stood the trial of years,
And now we'll meet our fate.

Joe's the president of our class;
He's quite the Romeo.
While Bill the boy with many cars
Has some that will not go.

Next comes Bonnie who's very shy;
She helps in many ways.
Georgene, who was our pretty queen,
Will miss her cheering days.

Michael Barnes is our happy clown;
At figures he is keen.
Stephen Brod is not what he seems;
With girls he's often seen.

Margaret is this year's editor,
She works both hard and long.
The other Margaret is quite short;
Temper flares when things go wrong.

Roy has a Ford convertible;
He is a happy lad.
Jo Bill, who is full of remarks,
Is not often very sad.

Sharon is quite a bright young girl;
We all think she's the best.
While Kathy with her long drak hair
Is always nicely dressed.

Steve laughs and jokes and kids a lot;
His car's his pride and joy;
And David with his cowboy boots
Is quite a jolly boy.

Genniffer is our office girl;
She's always on the go.
And Mary's always lots of fun;
Everyone likes her so.

Lenny's the book worm of our class;
He loves a good debate.
Al, the leader of the pep band,
Is not seen out too late.

The big flirt of our class, JoAnn,
Is chatting all the while.
Nancy's our peppy cheerleader;
She always wears a smile.

Bruce Mayer is our hefty boy,
In sports he does excel.
Dick Rudnay's always telling jokes;
We all think he is swell.

Sandy Gandee seems so quiet
Although she's really not.
Mary Jane is quite a scholar,
Of A's she has a lot.

Ken and Bill are the brothers rare,
Who spend school time in sleep;
With curly hair and clean blue jeans,
We seldom hear a peep.

Madonna we can always trust,
Her motto is "Don't tell."
Cecelia always gives a laugh,
We all know her real well.

Mike Bovino's a trying lad,
A point or two he'll score.
Ron has some height and nerve to spare;
He'll never be a bore.

Teresa is a science bug;
A helping hand she lends.
Lois is the head majorette,
In practice, hours she spends.

Dick Liezert always keeps his word,
Depend on him to try.
Eugene is a very slim lad;
He's really not so shy.

Peggy is a real hard worker;
She likes to teach a cheer.
Good things come in small packages,
Of Pat we'll always hear.

Dave Johnson has a pretty Ford,
He's always seen in it.
Ziggy is always goofing off,
But at golf he's a hit.

Sandy Gochneaur has a giggle
That is famous indeed.
Janice is the Home Ec major,
She knits with lots of speed.

Bob is known well for being late
And for his slide trombone.
John is fair in both class and sports,
Some service he will loan.

Judy has a touch in sewing
As well as one in art;
And Karen knows her horses well,
From them she'll never part.

This year we have two more new boys
Who really made a hit;
John comes from far across the sea
And Dave has lots of wit.

Gems From Our Treasure Chest

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of Aurora High School of the year, 1962, being of sound mind, do hereby lay down our last will and testament, declaring all other wills previously drawn up as null and void.

Genniffer Applebee leaves her high heels to Kathy Courneen.

Mike Barnes wills his bubble gum to Nancy Sevec in memory of him.

Mike Bovino bequeaths his coordination to Tom Summers.

Steve Brod gives his muscles to Chuck Martin.

Bill Cerrito wishes to leave his ability to sleep to Bruce Dimick.

Ken Cerrito's curly hair goes to Peggy Charvat.

Lenny Cass gives his ability to argue to his brother, Ronnie.

Mary Credicott bequeaths her short hair to Pat Setina.

Margaret Curtin leaves her ability to give bear hugs to Jim Studzinski.

Madonna Famageltto bequeaths her temper to Alice Walton.

Sandy Gandee gives her quietness to Pam Malle.

John Griffith bequeaths his "stone" face to Tom Tuttle who would probably crack it.

Jim Kenyon receives Ron Guenther's ability to flirt.

Gene Jambor wills his hair style to Nancy Walker.

David Johnson leaves his nickname, "Fish," to anyone who can swim.

Ziggy Klingbergs wishes to leave his boisterous manners to Mr. Zischkau.

Nancy Kratochvill gives her Kleenex to anyone who has a runny nose.

Bob Krepkovich leaves Allen Purdy to the Kent State music director.

John Lykke bequeaths his superior English to Mrs. Baus of the English Department.

Dave Cantrell wishes to give his red curly hair to Mr. Sims.

Dick Liezert's "Blue Angel" goes to Dennis Steigerwald who really needs it.

Bruce Mayer's perfect French is left to JoAnn Tuskes.

To Mr. Weppner we leave Steve Mehrl's comb.

Bob Tuttle will finally receive some good grades from Teresa Murray.

Margaret Nelis leaves her love of vegetables to any rabbit who wants it.

Lois Pearson's ability to sling hash in the kitchen is left to Nancy McKinnon.

To "Tweety" Paddock, Joe Perkins wishes to leave 205 pounds.

Mary Washburn receives Allen Purdy's ability to lead the Pep Band.

Janice Raus leaves her neatness to Jackie Striebinger.

Kathy Resetar bequeaths her long hair to Leslie Sosno.

Joe Rittenhouse's love for Missouri is left to his brother, Jon, because no one else would want it.

Dick Rudney's carefree attitude and unexpected sayings are willed to Jim Frye.

Bonnie Shaffer bequeaths her ability to get along with teachers to Bill Swift.

Roy Sladky leaves his ability to be a pest to Bob Marriner.

Sharon Stewart willingly gives her dirty car to anyone who wants to wash it.

Georgene Studzinski bequeaths her pretty eyes to Tim Morgan.

Dave Thorton gives his cowboy boots to Jo Ellen Knopf.

Mary Jane Toomey wishes to leave her ability to get high grades to George Hackett.

JoAnn Truce wills her ability to flirt to Mike Colebrook, who doesn't need it.

Bill Wahl forfeits his can of red paint to the Police Dept. for evidence.

Karen Welch begs to leave her kidneys to the biology class.

Judy White's ability to style hair goes to Brenda Beljon.

Pat Wilker leaves Mike to Bob, George, and Dave.

Peggy Zingale would like to give her Irish name to Renato Zimmerman.

Cece Gannon leaves her calloused hands to Judy Roxbury.

To the Junior Class we wish to leave our bills, class spirit, ability to get things done, and our many happy memories with hopes that they have a very successful senior year.

Signed, sealed, published, and declared as and for our last will and testament, we, the above named testators, in the presence of us and each other, have subscribed our names here as witnesses on the day and year last aforesaid.

Mass Mystery

Class Prophecy

On September 13, 1975, a tall slender, shadowy figure appears on the veranda of the Cass Castle in Yorkshire, England. He stealthily enters the bedroom through the French doors, pauses, looks around, and finds the jewelry box. He opens it and sees what he is looking for--an Aurora 1962 class ring. At that moment the maid Teresa Murray, enters the bedroom. He is startled and makes a quick getaway.

Soon after, Leonard and Mrs. Cass, the former JoAnn Truce, arrive home in their Rolls Royce driven by their chauffeur, Joe Perkins. They enter the house and find their butler, Dick Rudnay, consoling Teresa. Leonard hastily calls the police and talks to the desk sergeant, Bill Wahl. He promises to send over two bobbies, Ken Cerrito and Allen Purdy, at once. When they arrive at the Cass Castle, they are told of the theft of the class ring, a sentimental memento of high school days at Aurora, and they immediately set off in search of it.

Their first stop is Cece Gannon's Pub. They go in and question the bartender, John Griffith. He can't help them, but points out the world famous pickpocket, "Slippery Fingers" Barnes. Mike gives them a clue which leads Purdy and Cerrito to the London Market Place. There they ask a fish monger, Dave Johnson, for directions to Margaret Nelis' Vegetable Stand. Margaret sends them to Big Bruce's Burlesque Show, owned and operated by Bruce Mayer. In the front row of the audience they see Ron Guenther, Gene Jambor, Steve Brod and Bob Krepkovich enjoying the show. Purdy, hot on the trail, questions three of Big Bruce's girls, Margaret Curtis, Nancy Kratochvill, and Sharon Stewart. As the bobbies are leaving, Ron gives them a tip which will take them to Paris, France.

The officers take the Klingbergs Ferry across the English Channel. The captain of the ship is Janice Raus, and her first mate is Peg Zingale. Looking out over the waves, they are amazed to see Mary Credicott attempting to swim the Channel again. Upon arriving at LeHavre, France, they meet three longshoremen: John Lykke, Dick Liezert, and Joe Rittenhouse. The officers decide to proceed to Paris from here by train. They sit next to the famous cowboy star, David Thornton, and his manager, Mike Bovino. They are astonished to learn that Kathy Resetar is the engineer of the train, and the conductor, Georgene Studzinski, takes their tickets.

Arriving in Paris, the officers decide to eat at the Eiffel Tower Restaurant, where their waitress is Karen Welch. After eating they take the elevator down to the ground and Judy White, the elevator operator, directs them to Mary Jane's Pawn Shop, owned by Mary Jane Toomey. Roy Sladky is there pawning his watch to pay his gambling debts. The clerk, Bonnie Shaffer, tells the officers that they are on the wrong track, and that they should return to London and visit Gochneaur's Dairy. They board a jet bound for London and are greeted by the stewardess, Sandy Gandee. She tells them their pilot for the trip is Bill Cerrito.

Upon arrival in London, they take a taxi, driven by Pat Wilker, to the dairy. Here they are surprised to find Madonna Famageltto and Genny Applebee milking cows. Since these girls are so hard at work, they decide to ask the butter maid, Lois Pearson, where the foreman of the dairy can be located. They find the foreman, Steve Mehrl, in his office. He gives them the final clue to the ring mystery. He summons one of his dependable milkmen, David Cantrell, to the office. Under heavy questioning, Dave admits his guilt. He says, "When I came to Aurora I found I was too late to purchase a 1962 class ring. For years I have been wanting to purchase a class ring. Then while on my route, I saw JoAnn wearing this ring, and decided that I had to have it." Since the Casses are rich they drop charges and have a ring made especially for Dave.

Sports

Football

The 1961 football team had plenty of size and muscle. The line was big, rough and had experience. The backfield lacked the experience of the line but was strong.

Each boy took pride in his work and in so doing took pride in his team. There were no big heroes on this team as is shown by their choice of an unprecedented four co-captains.

This team found the formula for winning and their 7 win-2 loss record shows they learned it well. They discovered that to win it takes hard work, the spirit to never give up and a firm conviction not to lose.

Basketball

Beset by injuries to key personnel and a late start due to the temporary cancellation of athletics, the Greenies were off to a slow beginning in basketball. Losing three games before Christmas and losing our first three league games, we nevertheless had a fine season, finishing with eleven wins and five losses over the regular season. A six wins and four losses record in the Portage County League left us tied for fourth place.

The highlight of the season was undoubtedly the win over Atwater on their home court. This was Atwater's first league loss at home in seven years. Finishing the regular campaign with seven straight wins was another high mark, as this was one of the best winning streaks in the area.

In the semi-finals of the Portage County "A" tournament at Ravenna the Greenies beat a fine Garfield team 56-49 to advance to the championship game against Atwater. The win also assured Aurora a place in the sectional tournament at Ravenna.

Wrestling

The 1961-1962 wrestling season produced many surprises. The team was not expected to be comparable to the teams of the previous seasons. Captain Bruce Mayer was the only returning veteran from the 1960-1961 team that had the best record to date. This year's squad won 10 and lost 5, placed three men in the OHSAA District Championships at K.S.U. and qualified two men for the State Finals in Columbus. Keith Marshall, 103 lbs., with a 14-0 record and Kirk Marshall, 112 lbs., with a 15-0 record were the two undefeated wrestlers and placed second and fourth respectively in the District Tournament. Bruce Mayer, heavyweight, had a 14-1 record and was also a second place winner in the District Tournament. The team finished sixth in the District with 38 points and proved itself best in the county by finishing higher than any other county team in the thirty-one team district.

Other boys who posted winning records were Bob Marriner, 127 lbs., 9-3 record; Zigy Kingsberg, 133 lbs., 8-5-1 record; Dennis Steigerwald, 138 lbs., 10-4-1; and Dave Cantrell, 7-4 at 165 lbs. With twenty-five boys returning and an undefeated Junior Varsity team, wrestling should continue to be successful at Aurora High School in 1962-63.

RIDING TIME — Ted Andrick, Cuyahoga Falls, has a bear grip on Bruce "Moose" Mayer of Aurora in the final match in the heavyweight class in the District Tourney at Kent State Saturday night. Andrick was awarded a decision over the big Greenie, 2-1, as both wrestlers gained a point in the match with the Falls grappler being awarded the second point for the most riding time in the contest.

Six Portage Wrestlers Qualify for State Meet

By BRUCE FARREN

Canton McKinley unseated Beaver Local as district wrestling champion Saturday in Memorial Gym at Kent State University.

The Bulldogs finished out in front of the defending title holders, 58-49. Cuyahoga Falls was third with 45 points and Wooster trailed with 44. North Canton notched 39 to edge Aurora for fifth place.

* * *

THE Greenies, with 38 points, finished highest of any Portage County club and will be sending two grapplers to the state finals next week in Columbus.

Aurora will be represented by Keith Marshall at 103, the lightest w[illegible]; and in the heavyweight class by Bruce Mayer.

With the green and white holding the opening and closing weights, Portage County managed to slip four other wrestlers into the state tourney.

It was an all - Portage finale in the 154-pound class as Al Tomlinson of Southeast decisioned Nate Bozeman of Roosevelt. With 31 teams entered in the tourney which got underway Friday afternoon, this district was qualified to send two men from each division to the state meet so both finals (the winner and the loser) will be in the state-wide showdown.

175 — Nate Ferguson (Barb.) dec. Dave Seymour (McK.) 4-3.
HWT — Ted Andrick (Falls) dec. BRUCE MAYER (AURORA) 2-1.

AURORA TOURNEY — Aurora's Keith Marshall (on bottom) remained unbeaten in 103 pound competition when he decisioned Harold Lees of Stow (on top) in the Aurora Invitational Wrestling tourney Saturday night. Izzy Russo of Cleveland is the referee.

Willoughby South Defends Title In Aurora Tournament

AURORA — Willoughby South came through with three division champions and a total of 92 points to capture the third Annual Aurora Invitational Wrestling Meet here over the weekend. This is the second straight year that South has finished on top.

Burton came through with 60 points and one division champion to capture second place in the eight team meet. Aurora nosed out Kent Roosevelt by one point, 48-47 to capture third place.

* * *

THE Maple Leafs from Burton were the surprise team of the meet. They were running along way back in the middle of the pack, but came on strong in the semi - finals and the finals for their 60 points.

Willoughby South — 92
Burton — 60
Aurora — 48
Kent Roosevelt — 47
Stow — 39
Southeast — 37
Crestwood — 32
Kent State — 30

Keith Marshall and big Bruce Mayer captured the lightweight and heavyweight titles for Aurora. Al Kruse and Al Tomlinson captured the 13b and 154 division championships for Southeast. Other area champs were Schuett from Stow at 165 and Pollard from Crestwood at 175.

This was the best year of wrestling as the meet improves each year. The caliber of wrestling in the area is also improving as is shown by the closeness of most of the matches.

Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders

At present, Aurora has four varsity cheerleaders, two of whom are elected by the student body each year. Any sophomore girl who is a member of G.A.A. and who wishes to take the training for a cheerleader may do so. Upon approval of a faculty committee and maintenance of satisfactory scholastic standards, she becomes a reserve cheerleader and is eligible for election to varsity cheerleader for the following year. Girls serving two years as varsity cheerleaders receive their letter. This year our cheerleaders were especially active and sponsored many clever pep rallies. We are proud of the fact that three of our varsity cheerleaders have attended Midwest Cheering Conference at Syracuse, Indiana.

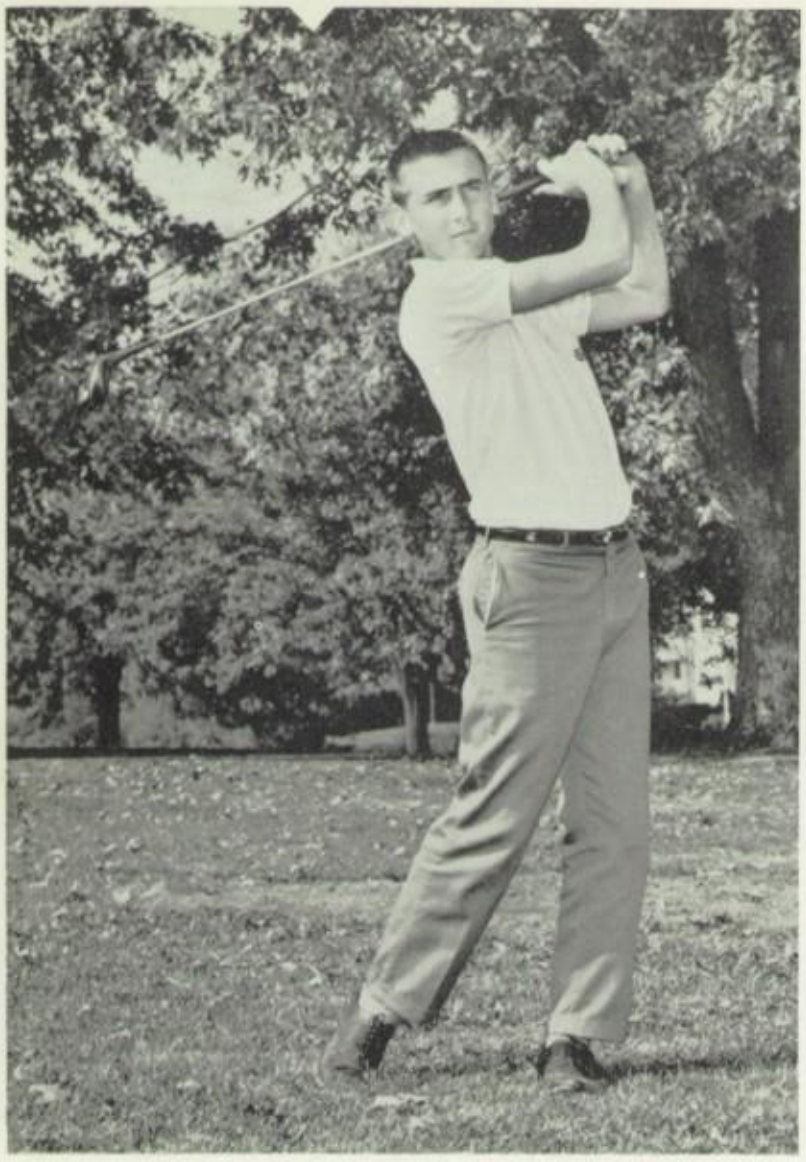
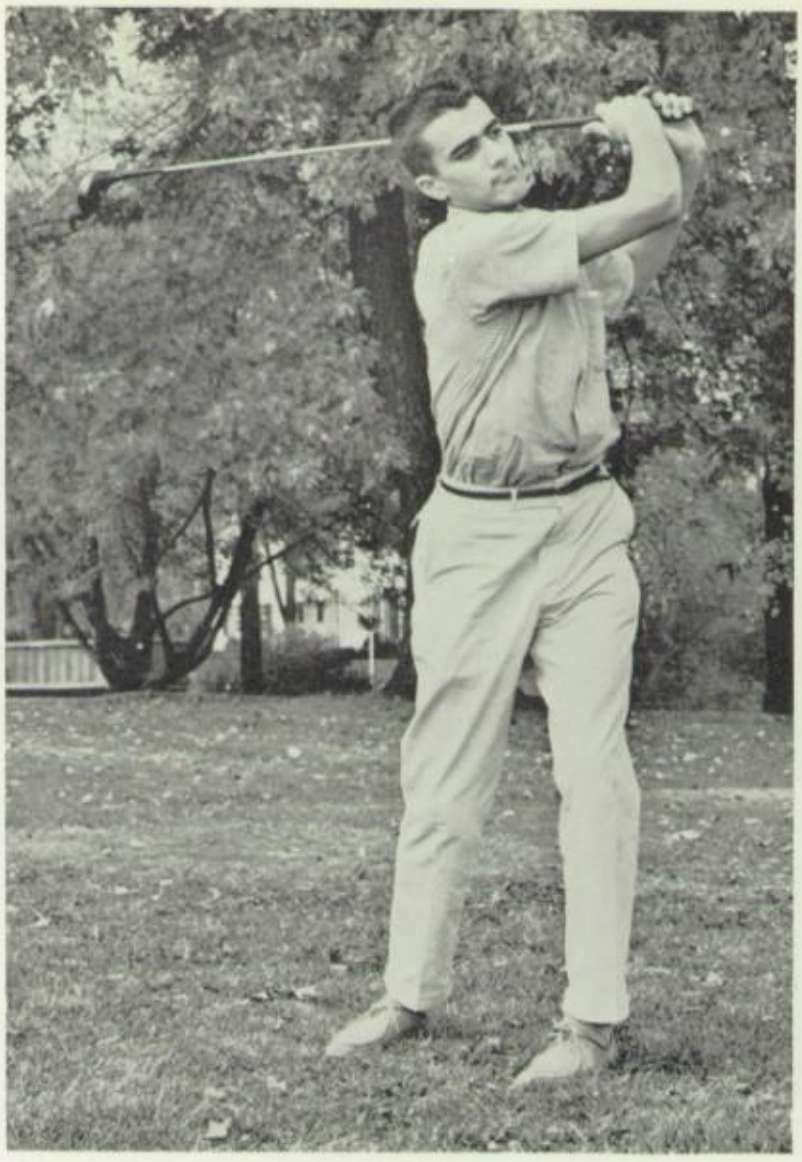
Golf Team



ZIGGY KLINGBERGS



JOHN GRIFFITH

The Aurora golfers compiled a 4-2 record during the 1961 season. The linksters defeated Crestwood twice and split with Atwater and Southeast. Ziggy Klingbergs was medalist on most occasions last year. All four lettermen will return next year insuring a fairly successful season.

Track

FIRST ROW: K. Marshall, J. Davies, R. Flora, J. Kenyon, D. Baylor. SECOND ROW: Mr. Petrofes, P. Metzger, M. Colebrook, R. Rudnay, R. Geunther, B. Mayer, L. Cass.

The 1961 team participated in several large meets and the Portage County Track Meet. There were about twenty boys participating in track and most of those boys are returning for the 1962 season. Bruce Mayer placed second in the shot put and third in discus in the county meet. Ron Gunther was fourth in the discus. Randy Flora qualified for the finals of the 220-yard dash. With all of these boys returning, the 1962 season should have the best track team in a long time at Aurora.

The team was hampered by a very wet spring and some sore arms. All of these contributed to a slow start. This was a young team and is expected to be better each year.

ACTIVITIES

Physical Education Classes

Girls' Athletic Association has as its purpose the increasing of interest and participation in all sports. All girl students who wish to join may do so upon meeting the required standards of participation for membership. Awards are made on a point basis, credit being given for extra time spent, proficiency tests, rules tests, and participation in team activities. Officers for 1961-62 are President, Lois Pearson; Vice-President, Sara Washburn; Secretary, Dorothy Dziedzicki; Treasurer, Cecelia Gannon. Girls who earn 600 points by the end of the junior year are eligible to become gym leaders who assume responsibility for helping in the administering of the physical education program.

Gym Leaders

FIRST ROW: P. Wilker, M. Nelis, P. Zingale, N. Kratochvill. SECOND ROW: C. Gannon, L. Pearson, M. Curtis, J. Truce; K. Welch, S. Stewart.

Y-TEENS

With "Time" as their 1962 theme, the Y-Teens at Aurora used theirs to good advantage. The nearly 100 members found time for their school and their community, as well as themselves.

Highlights of the 1961-62 year included a Father-Daughter Dinner, a Valentine Sweetheart Dance, School Easter Services, providing Christmas for a needy family, and their regular monthly meetings and service projects.

The Y-Teens are members of a world-wide organization, the Young Women's Christian Association. Officers for the year were Margaret Curtis, president; Sara Fodor, vice president; Bonnie Shaffer, treasurer and Nancy McKinnon, secretary. Faculty advisors were Mrs. Ester Nichols, Mrs. Martha Ayers, and Miss Virginia Molden.

The National Honor Society

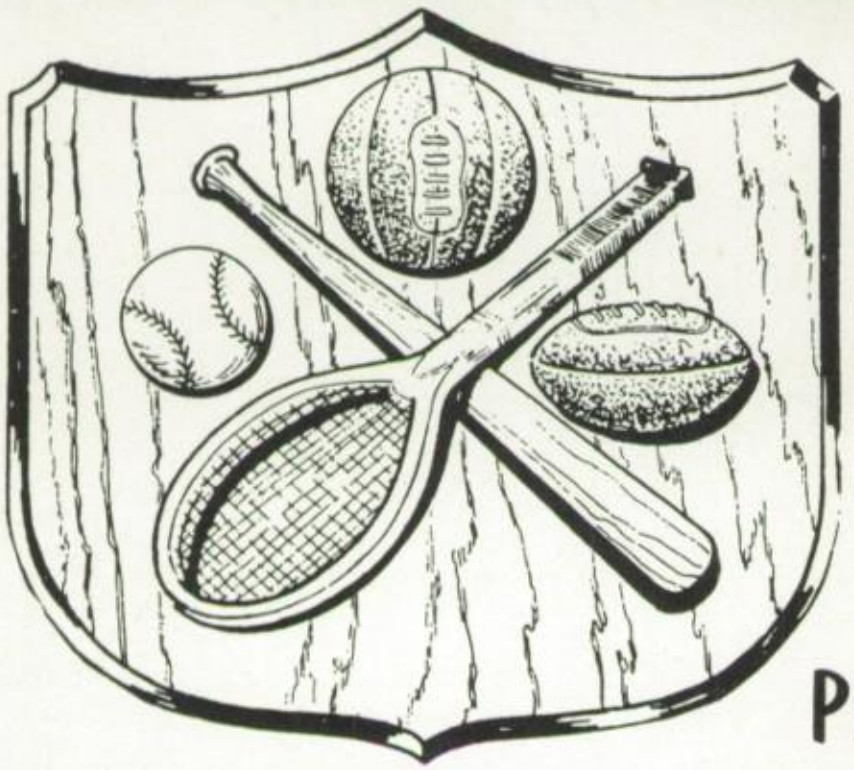
The National Honor Society is a school organization for outstanding high school students in grades 10, 11 and 12. Through the efforts of the Aurora High School Senior PTA, a local chapter of this distinguished national organization was formed in 1960. Requirements for membership in the society are character, scholarship, leadership, and service. In upholding these objectives, active members hope to motivate other students to endorse character, practice scholarly habits, participate in worthy services, and exert leadership in school affairs.

The Society of Science

The purpose of the Society of Science is to promote scientific study and research at Aurora High School. Our meetings are held regularly at 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on alternate Tuesday evenings.

We have had such speakers as Mr. Danforth Hale of Clevite Corporation. Mr. Paul Washburn, metalurgical engineer for United States Steel and research director from Carlon Products. We plan to visit several research companies later this spring.

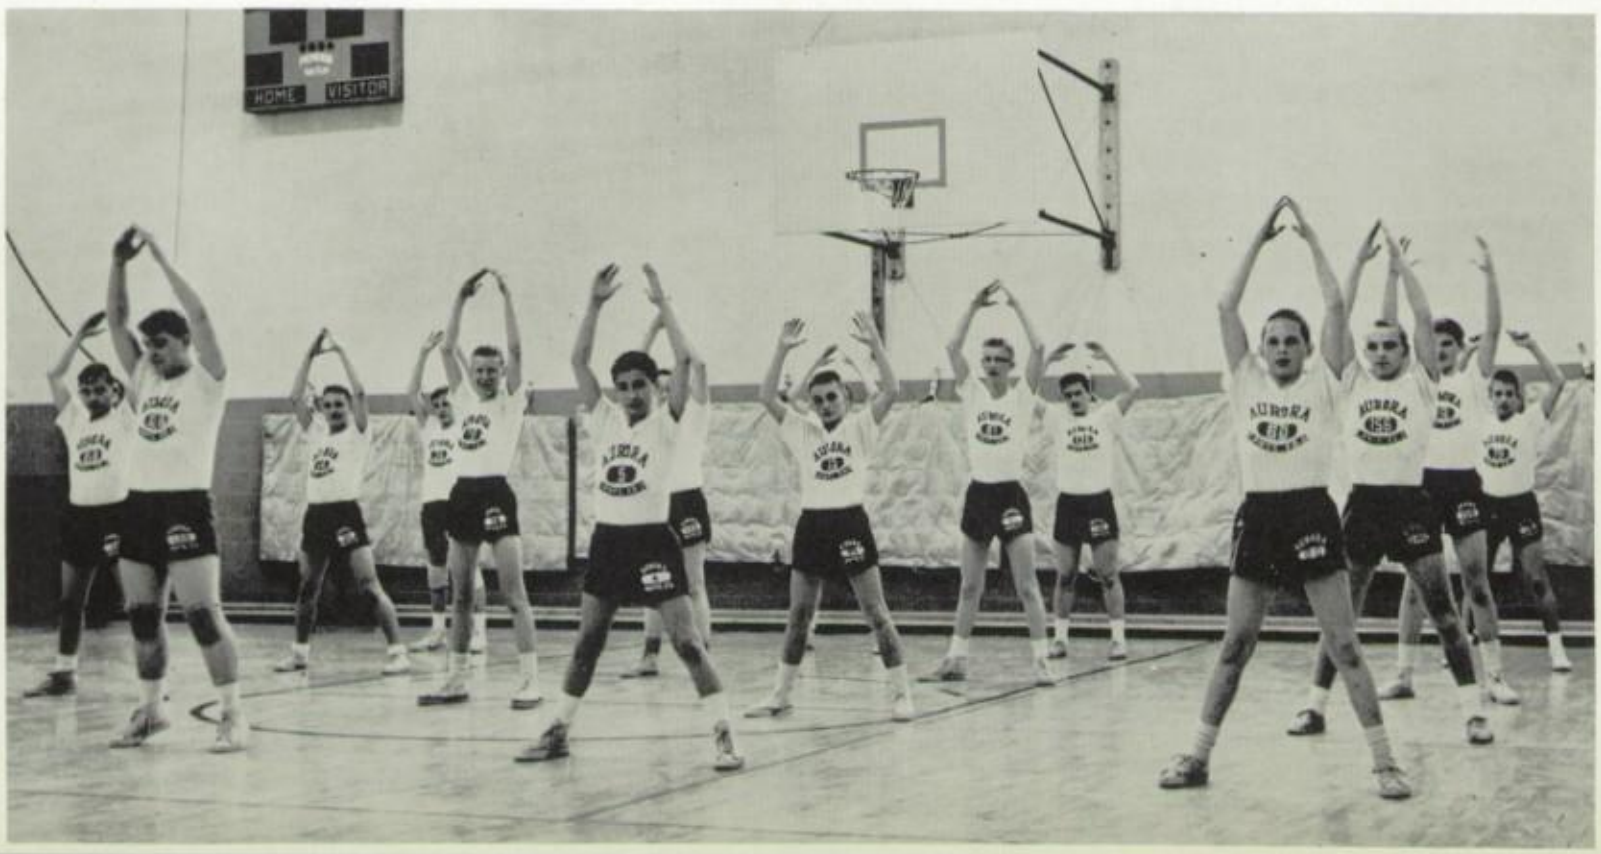
The 1961-62 officers are President, Teresa Murray; Secretary, Sara Washburn; and Treasurer, Joe Rittenhouse.



Varsity A

The Varsity A club is composed of letterwinners from the various varsity sports. This year before the sports season the club consisted of 25 members. This number will increase after the winter sports are completed. The club held several social events, sponsored a dance and helped with the refreshments at the basketball games and the wrestling tournament. Officers were Joe Perkins, President; Jim Doubrava, Vice President; Dave Thornton, Secretary; John Griffith, Treasurer; and Bruce Mayer, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Physical Education Class



Student Council

This year the Aurora High School Student Council constitution was changed to allow each homeroom to have at least one representative. In addition to homeroom representation, the four high school classes were allowed to have representatives-at-large.

Because the student council had to be reorganized, the election of officers was not held until February. In a school-wide election the following students were chosen to be the officers: Mike Barnes, president; David Cantrell, vice president; Dorothy Dziedzicki, secretary; and Bruce Mayer, treasurer.

The members of the student council sold tickets and refreshments at athletic contests, installed a pencil-vending machine in the library and have endorsed the establishment of a student-managed bookstore.

Key Club

The Key Club of Aurora was under a state of reorganization at the beginning of this school year. Having successfully completed this, there are now 18 members. It is a service organization within the school itself and is directly connected with the Aurora Kiwanis Club. It performs any service it can for the high school or the community.

Band

The fall season brought out the Aurora High School marching band. Its performances at the football games helped inspire the "fite" spirit in both the team and the fans.

Winter brought about the Concert Band. After a couple of months rehearsal, they were ready for their winter concert. It was held in the school gym on February 18, and was well attended by students, faculty and community.

It takes TEAMWORK

Teamwork—the magic formula that makes short work of a complex job. It takes a well-coordinated "telephone team" using the best available materials to furnish the good telephone service you enjoy.

We're proud of every individual on our team from the service representative who takes your order to the engineer responsible for forecasting future telephone needs. They're intelligent and resourceful folks who have the spirit of telephone service. Their common goal is to furnish you the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.
